From the developer: Microsoft Office Access is a database tool for collecting and understanding all your information — your phone numbers, inventory, guest lists, and anything you track — and provide an appropriate way to enter, navigate, and report your data. When you connect data points — whether their hours, contacts, or inventory — you get a lot of intelligence about how your business operates. You may want to withdraw more programs, such as Microsoft Office Professional, microsoft Office Outlook data update tool or Microsoft Office 2010: Redistributable Core Interop assemblies, which may be relevant to Microsoft Office Access.
